What we do

How does First State Bank protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law.

These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

Team members' access to personally identifiable information is limited according to individual job description and a need-to-know basis.

How does First State Bank collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you:

- ✓ Apply for a loan
- ✓ Make a wire transfer
- ✓ Use your credit or debit card
- ✓ Give us employment history
- ✓ Give us your income information
- ✓ Open an account
- ✓ Deposit money
- ✓ Use your credit or debit card

Non-public, confidential information is collected in the course of providing a product or service.

We also collect your personal information from credit bureaus and from other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only:

- ✓ Sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes – information about your creditworthiness
- ✓ Affiliates from using your information to market to you
- ✓ Sharing for non-affiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.
