What we do

How does High Country Bank protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we execute security measures that comply with federal law and industry standards. We have implemented physical, technical and administrative security measures which include computer safeguards of network firewalls, encryption for online sessions and secured files and buildings.

How does High Country Bank collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you

- open an account or use your debit card
- make a wire transfer or apply for a loan
- make deposits or withdrawals from your account

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates and other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.
