About Cookies -

Cookies are small text files on your system, used to keep track of settings or data for a particular site. Web sites can use cookies to identify a returning user or to pass information between web pages in a single visit. There are two types of cookies: temporary and permanent. Temporary cookies are deleted once the browser is shut down. Permanent cookies are stored on your system and can be accessed again for multiple visits. Permanent cookies usually have an expiration date and will be automatically deleted from your system at that time. Our online Internet Banking service (IB) never passes personally identifiable information through cookies. Online IB also uses a temporary session cookie, a non-persistent cookie, or a pre-expired cookie. This cookie is used as part of stringent online security measures to make sure that each is not cached or saved on your computer (each page must be retrieved from the web server). This cookie is deleted when a user logs or times out of IB or if the browser window is closed and ensures that another user on the same computer cannot access the previous user's session or information. If you use Enhanced Login Security, then IB may place a secure permanent cookie on your computer. This secure cookie is unique, and when used in combination with your login information, creates a unique way to identify you to the system. For every login attempt after you add extra security to a computer, this secure cookie is validated along with the login identification you normally enter. This secure cookie is only used to validate your identity and does not contain any personal information. Mobile Internet Banking and Bill Pay services may use permanent cookies to speedup identification of device type. This cookie does not contain any personal information.

IP Addresses - If you log on to IB, you pass through a "firewall" used for security purposes and the Internet Protocol (IP) address associated with the computer you are using may be identified. The IP address does not identify you personally. In certain instances, it may also obtain other information about your computer to better identify you as an online user. This information may be retained in case it is needed for security or protection of member information. How You Can Manage Your Information Online - If you are an IB user, you may access information and update some of your personal information quickly and easily online (e.g. change or reset your PIN, Password, phone number or postal address, including email address(es)). Service Providers on the Internet - Occasionally you will notice on our website that services are "Powered by" or "Provided by" content providers or technology service partners.
