

FACTS

WHAT DOES UNITED AMERICAN BANK DO WITH YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security number
- Income
- Account balances
- Transaction History
- Credit history
- Checking Account Information

When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?

All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information; the reasons United American Bank chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

Reasons we can share your personal information	Does United American Bank share?	Can you limit this sharing?
For our everyday business purposes— such as to process your transactions, maintain your account(s), respond to court orders and legal investigations, or report to credit bureaus	Yes	No
For our marketing purposes— to offer our products and services to you	Yes	Yes we share – you cannot limit this sharing
For joint marketing with other financial companies	No	We don't share
For our affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your transactions and experiences	No	We don't share
For our affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness	No	We don't share
For our affiliates to market to you	No	We don't share
For nonaffiliates to market to you	No	We don't share

Questions?

Call (650) 579-1500 or go to www.unitedamericanbank.com

Page 2

What we do
How does United American Bank protect my personal information?	To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.
How does United American Bank collect my personal information?	We collect your personal information, for example, when you Open an account Deposit money Pay your bills Apply for a loan Give us your contact information
Why can't I limit all sharing?	 Federal law gives you the right to limit only sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness affiliates from using your information to market to you sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. [See below for more on your rights under state law.]
Definitions
Affiliates	Companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies. United American Bank does not share client information with affiliates for marketing purposes
Nonaffiliates	Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies. United American Bank does not share with non affiliates so they can market to you.
Joint marketing	A formal agreement between nonaffiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you. United American Bank does not engage in joint marketing.

Other important information

For California residents only: California law places additional limits on sharing information about California residents so long as they remain residents of California. As such, United American Bank will not share information we collect about California residents with companies outside of United American Bank, except as permitted by law, such as with the consent of the customer, to service the customer's account, or to fulfill on rewards or benefits. We will limit sharing to the extent required by applicable California law.